Partner also absorbed smaller ISPs and a cellular rival (012 Mobile/Golan, see below).

Parent Company: Partner Communications Co. Ltd.

--- NOTES ---

Partner used 012 Mobile to compete with the wave of new low-cost operators that entered around 2012. After Partner's acquisition of smaller rival Golan Telecom in 2020, it's likely rationalizing brands. 012 Mobile (the brand) still exists as of 2025 for legacy customers, though Partner focuses marketing on the main brand.

Established in 1994, Cellcom broke the Pelephone monopoly in cellular and grew rapidly. It has since acquired smaller ISPs and launched its own TV over internet in 2014, becoming the first serious competitor to cable/satellite TV. Cellcom's push into fiber (through a partnership) further cements its converged services approach.

Ownership: 100% (since 2020)

--- DETAILS ---

--- NOTES ---

After acquisition, Cellcom promised regulators to keep Golan as a separate brand for a period, to preserve market competition. Golan's cheeky marketing (it was named after its French-Israeli founder Michael Golan) has toned down under Cellcom, but it still often undercuts Cellcom's own-branded prices to capture the value segment.

--- NOTES ---

Dor Alon's acquisition of am:pm allowed it to expand beyond fuel into urban retail. am:pm had controversy for operating on the Sabbath in secular areas. --- SOURCE ---

URL: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Delek>

Title: "Delek – Wikipedia"

Publisher: Wikipedia

--- NOTES ---

Delek (Hebrew for "Fuel") was one of Israel's first domestic fuel companies. In recent corporate developments, Delek Group sold most of its stake in Delek Israel (the fuel station arm) in 2020 to focus on upstream gas and oil (like the Leviathan gas field). However, the Delek gas station brand continues under the new owners (controlled by Lahav L.R.).

Parent Company: Delek Group Ltd.

Entity Name: Menta Convenience Stores

Entity Type: BRAND

Industry/Sector: Retail (Convenience Stores)

Ownership: 100% (under Delek Israel operations)

--- DETAILS ---

--- SOURCE ---

URL: <https://www.tranzit.co.il/%D7%A8%D7%A9%D7%AA-%D7%9E%D7%A0%D7%98%D7%94>

Title: "Menta Network – About" (Hebrew)

Publisher: Delek Menta (Official)

--- NOTES ---

Menta was one of the first Israeli gas station convenience brands to elevate the offering (with espresso machines and fresh sandwiches, not just packaged junk food). The success of Menta pushed competitors to enhance their convenience store concepts (e.g., Paz's Yellow). Menta also issues its own loyalty promotions, often integrated with Delek fuel discount programs.

Paz Oil Company Ltd.

BRAND/SUBSIDIARY ENTRY

Parent Company: Paz Oil Company Ltd.

Entity Name: Paz (Fuel Stations)

Entity Type: BRAND

Industry/Sector: Energy (Fuel Retail)

Ownership: 100%

--- DETAILS ---

Description: Paz is Israel's largest fuel company, operating a widespread network of petrol stations. Under the bright yellow “Paz” brand (meaning “gold”), the company sells gasoline and diesel and is heavily integrated, owning refining capacity (the Ashdod refinery) and distribution. Known Regions: Israel (the Paz brand is nationwide)

--- SOURCE ---

URL: <https://www.paz.co.il/en/about-paz/>

Title: "About Paz"

Publisher: Paz (Official)

--- NOTES ---

Paz, founded in 1922, has a substantial presence including the only large refinery in Israel (until 2022 when it sold the refinery). The Paz yellow stations are often highly visible. Paz went through a strategic shift to spin off its non-fuel businesses and focus on energy and retail.

Parent Company: Paz Oil Company Ltd.

Entity Name: Yellow (Paz convenience stores)

Entity Type: BRAND

Industry/Sector: Retail (Convenience Stores)

Ownership: 100%

--- DETAILS ---

Description: Yellow is the brand of convenience stores located at Paz gas stations. Introduced in 1999, Yellow stores operate 24/7 offering food, beverages, and travel necessities. They often brand themselves as a quick service store for motorists, featuring coffee, sandwiches, ATM services, and more. The bright yellow design mirrors Paz's color scheme.

Products/Services: Snacks and drinks, fresh coffee and pastry, sandwiches, OTC medicines, lottery tickets, etc., at gas station stores

Known Regions: Israel (located at most Paz stations and some standalone urban convenience kiosks)

--- SOURCE ---

URL: <https://www.paz.co.il/en/our-activity/retail/>

Title: "Retail Activity – Yellow convenience stores"

Publisher: Paz (Official)

--- NOTES ---

Yellow pioneered the modern Israeli gas convenience concept, similar to Shell's Select or 7-Eleven. Paz leveraged Yellow to diversify into convenience retail and even trialed standalone city stores (unrelated to fueling). The phrase "Stop at Yellow" became a marketing slogan, indicating the brand's strength in public consciousness.
